

Southern Pearl V106 & Southern Phoenix V119

14th August 2015

Dear Valued Customers,

The Southern Pearl has again experienced delays in the port of Tarawa spending a full 5 days in port. We have been assured that the maintenance work required on the port machinery that are causing such delays, are being treated as high priority to prevent this impacting future port calls.

The schedule has been revised as below for the subsequent voyages and in order to accommodate the current cargo which is Fiji awaiting to be transhipped to the outer islands, the rotation for the next voyage will include a second call in Suva which will become V107 and head directly to Tarawa.

To minimise the impact to schedule, the Southern Phoenix V119 will also make a special call to Funafuti which will unfortunately delay her time of arrival into Honiara.
