

Tropical Cyclone Winston – Southern Lily service

17th February 2016

Dear Valued Customers,

Tropical Cyclone Winston has been gaining strength and tracking south of Fiji in the direction of Tonga.

The Southern Lily, on her northbound run from Auckland to Nuku'alofa, has had to deviate from her usual course to avoid the worst of the weather conditions and as such is currently 36-48hrs behind schedule.

She is currently due to arrive in Nuku'alofa this afternoon, but due to high swell and strong winds in Nuku'alofa, she will not berth until 0600hrs tomorrow the 18th February. This would then put her in Apia on the 20th and Pago Pago on the 20th local time.

We will keep you informed of the forward schedule in due course.

Thank you for your continued support.

Yours sincerely
